By submitting the Original Material, further defined in the articles that follow, the Client tacitly conveys their unreserved assent to the full scope of stipulations, clauses, and conditions presented herein.

1. Definitions

1.1. "Translator/Unreserved Unreserved Legal Consultant/Service Provider". This term refers to MMW Europe Ltd., as the provider of translation services, unreserved legal consultancy within the Italian framework, and other related services as detailed in this contract.

1.2. "Client". This designation pertains to the individual or legal entity that expresses their consent and proceeds to the signing of this agreement, availing themselves of the services offered by the Translator/Unreserved Legal Consultant/Service Provider.

1.3. "Original Material" includes any document, deed, or other material provided by the "Client" to the "Translator/Unreserved Legal Consultant/Service Provider" for the performance of legal consultancy services, non-certified or sworn translation, localisation, drafting and proofreading of texts, creative writing, interpreting, and advice concerning, but not limited to, sworn, certified, authenticated translations, legalisation services, notarial services, citizenship applications, statements of value, and legal consultancy on administrative procedures, in accordance with the Terms and Conditions of the Contract herein.

1.4. "Final Material/document/deed" refers to the final translated or processed version of the "Original Material", as well as any report or statement produced within the scope of linguistic and legal consultancy services provided by the "Translator/Unreserved Legal Consultant/Service Provider".

2. Fees

2.1. The fees for services provided by MMW Europe Ltd. shall be determined in accordance with the terms outlined in the specific offer made to the Client. Translation rates will be calculated based on the number of words in the source text unless otherwise agreed in writing. The 'standard translation page' is conventionally recognised as containing approximately 250 words in the English context. For legal consultancy services, fees will be determined based on the hours worked and the complexity of the legal issues addressed. The Client is obligated to pay the agreed fees for services rendered, which may vary based on the complexity of the legal case, time expended, and the expertise required.

2.2. MMW Europe Ltd. reserves the right to adjust charges, fees, rates, and/or service delivery conditions as specified in any prior offer, subsequent to the receipt and evaluation of the complete 'Original Material'.

2.3. The Translator/Unreserved Legal Consultant/Service Provider will inform the Client of any additional costs or changes in the service completion date before initiating any legal or linguistic activity on behalf of the Client.

2.4. Unless otherwise agreed upon, all proposed fees and rates are exclusive of Value Added Tax (VAT) and any other applicable taxes. The Client shall bear all fiscal obligations arising from this Agreement. This includes any applicable taxes, levies, duties, or similar governmental charges imposed on the services provided under this Agreement, in accordance with English law.

2.5. MMW Europe Ltd. reserves the right to request an advance payment, which may be up to the total amount for the service to be provided. Invoices for any additional services will be issued in accordance with the billing conditions previously established and agreed with the Client.

3. Quality Assurance and Management of Original Materials/Documents/Deeds

3.1. Quality Guarantees and Timelines. MMW Ltd. commits to ensuring excellence in quality and adherence to timelines for the completion of commissioned services. The "Translator/Unreserved Legal Consultant" shall perform services following rigorous quality standards, interpreting technical terms in accordance with their standardised meaning, unless otherwise directed by the Client, or according to glossaries previously approved and provided by the Client.

3.2. Original Material Requirements. The Original Material must be presented in a clearly legible form and sent to the Translator/Unreserved Legal Consultant in the formats and terms established in the agreements between the Parties.

3.3. Provision of Support Materials for Technical Texts. For the accurate translation of technical documents, it is imperative that the Client furnishes the Translator/Unreserved Legal Consultant with comprehensive support materials.

These materials should include, but are not limited to, relevant references, detailed technical drawings, or schematics, and any specialised technical glossaries that the Client has developed. Additionally, any previously translated texts by the Client or texts translated by consultants appointed by the Client should be provided. These resources are crucial in ensuring the precise interpretation and translation of specialised content.

The Translator/Unreserved Legal Consultant shall be absolved of any liability for inaccuracies in the translation of technical or specialised terminology that may arise due to the absence of clear, written directions from the Client. It is the Client's responsibility to provide specific instructions regarding the translation of such terms during the initial assessment phase of the assignment. Failure to do so may lead to disputes for which the Translator/Unreserved Legal Consultant cannot be held responsible.

3.4 Limitation of Liability for Delivery Delays. The Translator/Unreserved Legal Consultant shall not bear liability for any postponements in the completion of the services attributable to the Client's failure to provide, provision of incorrect, or untimely submission of the Original Material. This limitation of liability applies to delays that are directly caused by such failures in supply, and the Translator/Unreserved Legal Consultant reserves the right to adjust delivery schedules accordingly.

3.5 Exclusion of Liability for Stylistic Preferences and Complaints Process. MMW Ltd. accepts no liability for non-conformity of translations with the Client's personal stylistic preferences, as such assessments are by nature subjective and prone to individual interpretation. In the realm of specialised translations, unless expressly directed otherwise, MMW Ltd. restricts its services to verbatim translation. The Company is under no obligation to modify the textual style from that of the original document. Complaints pertaining to translations carried out by MMW Ltd. will be deemed valid only if submitted within two (2) business days following the delivery of the translated work or its respective components. To be considered, a complaint shall include the original documents and the disputed translations, alongside a comprehensive and annotated list compiled by the Client, pinpointing each contentious issue identified within the translation provided. Should no well-substantiated claim, complete with elucidative remarks, be lodged within the timeframe, the translation shall be regarded as meeting MMW Ltd.'s standards of quality.

3.6. Review Procedure for Translated Texts. In the event of a complaint expressed within the established times and in the case of proven dissatisfaction of the Client, MMW Ltd. commits, at its own expense, to provide a re-edition of the contested translation within a period equal to one-third of the time elapsed from the order plus twenty-four (24) hours.

3.7. Specific Clauses Related to Sworn Official Translations/Transcriptions. The provisions set out in Article 3 do not apply to sworn translations or transcriptions. Once such documents have been attested in court or before a Notary, no further modifications can be made. Therefore, the Client is recognised the right to request the viewing of the translated or transcribed texts before their attestation before the court.

4. Corrections and Amendments to Performed Translations/Transcriptions

4.1. Corrections at No Additional Cost. The Translator/Unreserved Unreserved Legal Consultant shall provide, at no extra charge to the Client, all necessary amendments to correct errors identified in the non-sworn translations, including but not limited to inaccuracies, omissions, typographical errors, and grammatical mistakes, as well as adherence to any pre-approved glossaries. This provision does not extend to sworn translations once notarized, as they are final and not subject to modification.

4.2. Liability for Errors/Typos. The Client acknowledges that the Translator will not be liable for any errors or typos in the translations unless they are reported in writing within 2 days from the delivery of the Final Material, except for sworn translations in paper format which, once notarized or attested before the court, are not subject to changes, as stated in article 3.7 above.

4.3. Translator's Duties and Client's Entitlements. The Translator's duty with respect to errors notified within the designated period shall be confined to rectifying the Final Material at no additional charge. This provision shall not apply to sworn translations in hard copy, which are immutable once notarized or attested before the court. The Client is entitled to an explicit opportunity to review the translation intended for notarisation or attestation before the court to verify its accuracy. In the absence of such a review, the Client shall deem the translation as rendered by the Translator to be conclusive and unalterable. Amendments to sworn translations are permissible solely on electronic documents without incurring translation fees; notwithstanding, the Client shall assume full financial responsibility for all costs associated with the re-notarisation procedures, as well as any related legal fees mandated by the court.

4.4. Regime Applicable to Sworn Transcriptions. The correction and modification regime described in the preceding paragraphs equally applies to sworn transcriptions. Like sworn translations in paper format, once sworn transcriptions have been notarized or attested in court, they cannot be corrected, modified, or altered. Therefore, the Client is encouraged to review the transcriptions carefully before notarisation and attestation and to communicate explicitly any revision requests. In the absence of such communication, sworn transcriptions will be considered final and non-modifiable, and the Client assumes responsibility for accepting the work as notarized/attested.

5. Amendments or Additions to Original Material.

5.1. Notification of Amendments or Additions to the Translated or Transcribed Text. Should the Original Material undergo any amendments or additions by the Client, it is critical that these are communicated to the Translator/Unreserved Unreserved Legal Consultant with clarity and precision. The Client shall specify the changes made and their location in relation to the original version of the material.

5.2. Assessment of Costs and Time Involved in the Amendment and Integration Process. Modifications or additions to the Original Material may result in changes to the costs and timelines initially anticipated for the completion of the translations. Such changes will be evaluated based on the extent and nature of the modifications, as well as the percentage of work already completed.

5.3. Preliminary Estimate. Prior to implementing any changes or additions, the Translator/Unreserved Legal Consultant agrees to provide the Client with a preliminary estimate of the additional time and costs required to implement the variations.

6. Limitation of Liability Clauses

6.1. Limitation of Liability for Damages. The Translator/Unreserved Legal Consultant shall not be liable for any form of damages, whether direct, indirect, incidental, special, punitive, or consequential, including but not limited to financial damages, loss of profits, or any claims asserted by third parties against the Client that may arise out of or in connection with the services provided by the Translator/Unreserved Legal Consultant. This limitation of liability shall apply to all claims for damages, regardless of whether they arise from breach of contract, tort (including negligence), or any other legal theory, and it remains in effect even if such damages were within the realm of possibility foreseen by the Translator/Unreserved Legal Consultant. Furthermore, this limitation shall persist notwithstanding any contrary provisions or understandings that may have been proposed or agreed upon in any prior proposals, contracts, or ancillary documents pertinent to the service rendered.

The Translator/Unreserved Legal Consultant is exempt from any responsibility for the rejection, non-acceptance, or contention by any third parties regarding the content, translation, or layout of any translated documents, certificates, or deeds. It is incumbent upon the Client to ensure the suitability of the document's content and form when submitting or presenting it to external parties, including but not limited to public agencies, diplomatic and consular entities, governmental bodies, or private sector organizations. The Client hereby acknowledges and agrees to bear the full responsibility for any consequences resulting from such submissions or presentations.

6.5. Client Representations and Warranties. The Client hereby affirms and guarantees that: (a) they possess full title or have obtained all necessary rights and permissions concerning the Original Document; and (b) the act of translating, disseminating, publishing, commercialising, or otherwise exploiting the Original Document does not transgress upon or violate any trade secrets, copyrights, patents, trademarks, or any other intellectual property or proprietary rights belonging to third parties.
